How to Hug a Porcupine: Negotiating the Prickly Points of the Tween Years (Family & Relationships) By Julie Ross

“You never listen to anything I say!”

Yesterday, your child was a sweet, well-adjusted eight-year-old. Today, a moody, disrespectful twelve-year-old. What happened? And more important, how do you handle it? How you respond to these whirlwind changes will not only affect your child's behavior now but will determine how he or she turns out later. Julie A. Ross, executive director of Parenting Horizons, shows you exactly what's going on with your child and provides all the tools you need to correctly handle even the prickliest tween porcupine.

- Find out how other parents survived nightmarish tween behavior--and still raised great kids
- Break the “nagging cycle,” give your kids responsibilities, and get results
- Talk about sex, drugs, and alcohol so your kid will listen
- Discover the secret that will help your child to disregard peer pressure and make smart choices--for life

"This excellent book lets parents peek into the underlying, confusing thoughts and perplexing decisions that young tweens are constantly facing."

--Ralph I. López, M.D., Clinical Professor of Pediatrics, Cornell University, and author of The Teen Health Book

Alice Weaver:

As a college student exactly feel bored in order to reading. If their teacher requested them to go to the library in order to make summary for some guide, they are complained. Just very little students that has reading's soul or real their hobby. They just do what the educator want, like asked to the library. They go to generally there but nothing reading really. Any students feel that examining is not important, boring as well as can't see colorful photos on there. Yeah, it is to become complicated. Book is very important for you. As we know that on this age, many ways to get whatever you want. Likewise word says, ways to reach Chinese's country. Therefore this How to Hug a Porcupine: Negotiating the Prickly Points of the Tween Years (Family & Relationships) can make you really feel more interested to read.
